

SOUTHERN SPOTLIGHT

where they can swim, play tennis, or enjoy a round of golf. Nearby Hunting Island Beach State Park offers the perfect spot for a picnic, and the downtown marina is just a short walk away. The inn also has bicycles for those who prefer pedaling their way through Beaufort's charming environs.

But some may enjoy the Rhett House itself so much, they are quite content to stay put. Original fireplaces give a cozy feel to the common areas, and the lush garden and wide veranda beckon guests to relax and sit a spell.

"The goal of every staff member is to give our guests a real experience of Southern hospitality," explains Lanier. "The Rhett family was known for their hospitality and great parties. You can still feel that energy in the rooms, and we do our best to extend that welcoming feeling to all our guests."
